

Jefferson Park HPOZ
COMMERCIAL STORE FRONTS

Two story commercial buildings on Jefferson Blvd.:
This is 2704 Jefferson. It shows the typical store front: inset doorway, brick bulkhead, large single pane display windows, and the multi light clerestory window has been boarded up.

This is 2610 Jefferson Blvd. a handsome building: There are 9 lights in the clerestory. The door is original and typical – glass with a wood frame. Again, inset doorway, brick bulkhead, single pane display windows.

2520 Jefferson Blvd. Still has the Vboard above doorway and original light fixture.

This is an example of a single story commercial building. 2325 Jefferson with tile bulkhead.

Another single story commercial building, 2319 Jefferson with original doors (glass with wood frame) and intact bays. Same arrangement: clerestory windows (boarded up), inset doorways, brick bulkhead, single pane display windows.

As it has happened on Jefferson Blvd., these two handsome buildings have lost their original store fronts. 2314 and 2301 Jefferson. But they would have had clerestory windows, inset central doorways, bulkheads, and large single pane display windows.

Another single story commercial building with a nice corner entrance. 2300 Jefferson from 1921. Two store fronts in a single bay. The large pane window for the second store front has been walled in.

2216 Jefferson. Two story commercial.
Original central door. The original doors on commercial buildings were glass with a wood frame. Black tile on the bulkhead. The doorway was probably inset – as it is in the second bay.

2222
Jefferson.
Walled up storefront windows –
but nice clerestory with multiple lights.

2210 Jefferson. You can make out the original glass/wood frame central door. The clerestory windows would have been where the signs are for the shops (Tattoo).

2130 Jefferson two stores in each bay.
Clerestory windows have been covered over.

2126 Jefferson. Clerestory and some panes have been boarded up. Brick bulkhead.

2043 Jefferson. A handsome two story commercial that has lost its store fronts. The bays are asymmetrical in size; one bay probably had a central inset doorway, and the other probably had an inset doorway to the side of the bay. It would have had a brick bulkhead, clerestory windows, and large single pane display windows. The doors would have been glass with wood frame.

2037 Jefferson. A handsome single story commercial with one intact bay and remarkably preserved. The other two bays are missing the inset doorway. The intact bay still has the original door and light fixture. The clerestory windows have survived as well.
